 - 1) She is worried that her kids will receive pictures of their naked friends.
 - 2) If kids want to see naked bodies they will watch porn. Porn sites are widely available and kids find ways to watch them. It's very unlikely that they will receive pictures from their friends.
 - 3) Her friend's son got suspended for posting a picture of air soft gun (ASG).
 - 4) Gary says that being suspended from school is irrelevant in a scheme of life. He tells a story about 'pantsing' that kids got suspended for at his school.
- III) They told her that everything that she puts online will stay there forever.

 - 1) Some parents are very critical and judgmental about their kids. If parents don't help their kids to build confidence, self-esteem and self-acceptance they might try to look for acceptance elsewhere. For example on social media platforms.
 - 2) Some parents create a kind of protective bubble around their kids. The kids are always told that they are great at everything. At some point that the rest of the world doesn't think that way. It may cause very strong reactions and anxiety.
- VI) The kids write to her about the pressure they experience. They are being constantly compared to their parents' friends' kids, to their friends or even to public figures and celebrities.
