

based on: truly

Craziest Easter Traditions

TOTALLY

INAPPROPRIATE

VIDEO

ACTIVITIES

1. Do you celebrate religious holidays?

2. What's your favorite holiday? How do you celebrate it?

3. You are going to see a video about Easter traditions in Slovakia. What do you know about this country?

englishvee.com

PARENTAL ADVISORY EXPLICIT CONTENT

VOCABUARY

branch

blown away

chase

dive common host reward

schnapps

skip whip

willow

Watch the video (00.00-01.45) and answer the questions.

OLIEVACKA

1

What's the tradition?
What do people do?

3

How is it different in villages and the cities?

2

What's the point?

4

What do you think about it?

Watch the video (01.45-02.32) and answer the questions.

SIBACKA

1

What's the tradition?
What do people do?

2

What's the point?

3

What do you think the girls will do in return?

Watch the video (02.32-03.06) and answer the questions.

ODMENA

1

What's the tradition?
What do people do?

2

What's the point?

3

What do you think about it?

Watch the video (02.00-end) and answer the questions.

1

What other traditions do they mention?

2

What does the splashing and hitting mean, according to hosts?

3

The traditions seem very sexist and abusive. What do you think about it?

4

Splashing and hitting may be perceived as physical violence. But it can get worse. The women are also abused emotionally. How?

These are the comments from below the video. Which one do you like best? Why?

11 months ago

For Easter in America we hide plastic eggs 🥚 with filled with candy or paint 🎨 real hard boil eggs 🥚 and we have Easter basket 🧺 filled with candy 🍬 and toys 🧸 and great video simi and Danny

1

1 year ago

I'm from Brazil. Here in Fortaleza, we splash flour, eggs or water onto people during carnival. It's an old tradition named "mela-mela". Not everyone likes it and sometimes we have fights about it? YES, but it's an old tradition.

2

2 years ago

I'm from east Africa and mostly what we do during easter is slaughter a goat and roast it. We call it "Nyama Choma" and we eat it with vegetable salad "Kachumbari".

3

7

2

2 years ago

In India, we play Holi which is super fun with colours and water. In some parts, men are beaten with wooden rods :p that's a little too wild. But I love the whipping in Slovakia, now I know why girls there are super pretty n fun :p

4

4 years ago

We have same splashing tradition in Poland but it became unacceptable in modern days and you can have problems with police. I envy the spanking tradition. Slovaks know what's good in life. xD

5

44

2

3 years ago (edited)

Yamen S. im from east slovakia and i hate it at easter morning because i get up from my cozy and warm bed and then my brother carries me outside and splashes cold water on me with his friends and my dad 😊

6

3

2 years ago

In Italy we eat lamb, you know the whole sacrifice of christ. Funny how you eat goat, wich is associated with the Devil instead of lamb wich symbolizes Christ. Maybe you're satanists?

7

Write your comment.